The Buffer-Free Zone.

No Buffering

You didn't know that your brokerage buffers your Revenue Share checks? Most agents don't. This is where the brokerage systematically reduces your earned Revenue Share to meet their financial obligations in a given month. This means you may not be getting what you were told you'd be getting.

We will never do that.

No Plan Changes & Restrictions

We won't add new roadblocks as we scale to prevent you from getting Revenue Share. No cultural requirements, no front line minimums, nada.

EPIQUE

Retire, for Real.

Not just another hamster wheel.

Don't get caught recruiting to your first level for the rest of your life. No restrictions means you can stop recruiting without worrying about losing levels.

No More Recruiting

You won't lose any levels by putting your recruiting efforts on hold. Let your downline grow organically.

Frequently Asked Questions

What happens when the agent I recruited hits their cap?

You are getting 10% of the Company's Commission. If the agent keeps 100% because they hit their cap, the Company will get $0, therefore so will the recruiter, until the agent's anniversary date and starts over.

How is this sustainable?

Epique was built to work off of only 50% Revenue in the form of Commissions. We designed our model in order to give away half of our Revenue back to our agents since the very beginning.

What happens if someone leaves? Does it all shift up or does the Company take the spot?

If someone in your down line leaves, the company will take the spot keeping everyone else intact in the level they were always in.

How often do you pay Revenue Share?

Revenue Share is paid via Direct Deposit on the 15th of every month to include all transactions from the calendar month before.

Can I put my spouse in my Level 1 and everyone else under them so we make double revenue share for our household?

Yep. Since you'll get the same 10% on every level, it won't affect your Revenue Share, and it will give your spouse 10% as well. This is also a great way to help someone in your down line like a mentee or valuable recruit you want to help out.

Can I recruit anywhere?

You sure can. As long as Epique is there, you can recruit someone to the Company and earn. The only restrictions may be international recruits (outside of the U.S.) as we often put in moratoriums for recruiting outside the US while we open those markets.

How will I know how much I've earned or how many agents I have?

We have a robust reporting system that will show you every sale, all of your earnings, every agent, and every level. This updates every 2 hours.

Frequently Asked Questions

Does the Company recruit agents as well?

No. We do not recruit agents at the company level. We do not advertise for that either. We want all recruiting to happen at the agent attraction level and do not compete with our agents for recruits.

Can Brokers, Staff, or Mentors Recruit?

Absolutely. Everyone is able to take part in Revenue Share and recruit. We do not impose quantity limits on leadership or staff either.

Will the company help me recruit?

Absolutely. We will help with training, providing a CRM, putting together company events to help you recruit, talk to recruits for you to help you convert agents, supply marketing materials, and more.

Can I run ads to recruit?

Absolutely. We do not impose restrictions on ad spend for recruiting. All graphics, ads, and websites must be approved for quality before being used however.

Do we get stock for recruiting?

Yes. You get free company stock for each and every recruit you bring to the company. Please check the ICA for the current stock award schedule.

Can I get more than 10%?

Yes! PowerAgents™ earn Double Revenue Share (20%) for Level 1 recruits. Also, Area Leaders and Brokers are awarded Revenue Share for their roles as well.

Can I retire and keep my Revenue Share?

Yes! You can leave and are able to keep your vested Revenue Share stream if you decide to retire. You must be at Epique for a minimum of 36-months to be vested, and you'll only be paid on vested agents who have also been here 36 months as well.
